Procedure for Appearing in Computer Based Test (CBT)

1. Seating and login
   - (a) A computer terminal (node) will be allotted to each candidate at the registration desk in the examination hall, as stated in Para 8.4. Candidates must sit only at the terminal allotted to them. A candidate found to have changed the room, hall or terminal without the permission of the invigilator is liable to cancellation of candidature, and no plea in this regard will be entertained.
   - (b) The terminal will display a login screen showing the candidate's photograph and the subject opted by the candidate. The candidate must check that the photograph, name and subject are correct, and must inform the invigilator immediately if they are not (Para 8.5). The candidate will log in using the login ID and password as instructed in the examination hall.
   - (c) After logging in, the candidate will see the detailed instructions for the test and should read them carefully. The questions will be displayed at the designated start time of the examination.
2. The test on screen
   - (a) Paper I (50 questions) and Paper II (100 questions) are displayed as two sections of a single test of 180 minutes. There is no separate time limit for each paper and no break between them. The candidate may move between the two sections, and between questions, at any time during the test.
   - (b) All questions are multiple-choice questions. For each question, the candidate is to select one option as the answer (Para 3.5).
   - (c) Answers are given only by clicking with the computer mouse. The keyboard, if any, will be disabled for the entire duration of the test. There are no questions requiring an answer to be typed or a number to be entered.
3. Timer and technical problems
   - (a) The clock is set at the server. The countdown timer at the top right of the screen shows the time remaining. When the timer reaches zero, the test will end automatically; the candidate is not required to submit the test. For a candidate allowed compensatory time under Para 4.2.4, the timer will include the additional time.
   - (b) If the computer or mouse allotted to a candidate malfunctions at any time during the test, the candidate will be moved immediately to another terminal, and the time lost will be adjusted at the server so that the candidate gets the full time allowed. The responses already saved will be retained.
4. Question palette and status of questions

   The Question Palette on the right of the screen shows the status of each question. The symbols and colours used for each status are shown in the instructions displayed after login.

Status shown on the palette	What it means	Will it be evaluated?
Not Visited	The candidate has not yet opened the question.	No
Not Answered	The candidate has opened the question but has not saved an answer	No
Answered	The candidate has selected an option and saved it.	Yes
Marked for Review	The candidate has marked the question for review without saving an answer.	No

Status shown on the palette	What it means	Will it be evaluated?
Answered and Marked for Review	The candidate has saved an answer and also marked the question to look at again.	Yes

Only questions with a saved answer, that is, questions with the status "Answered" or "Answered and Marked for Review", will be evaluated.

The candidate can collapse the Question Palette by clicking the arrow to its left, to enlarge the question area, and open it again by clicking the arrow on the right of the question area.

5. Answering a question
   a) To select an answer: click the option chosen.
   b) To save the answer: click "Save & Next". The answer is saved and the next question is displayed. An answer that has been selected but not saved will not be recorded.
   c) To change a saved answer: go back to the question, click a different option and click "Save & Next" again. To remove an answer altogether, click "Clear Response".
   d) To mark a question for review: click "Mark for Review & Next". If an option has been selected when this button is clicked, the answer is saved and the question is shown as "Answered and Marked for Review"; it will be evaluated. If no option has been selected, the question is shown as "Marked for Review"; it will not be evaluated unless an answer is later saved.
   e) Answers may be changed at any time until the timer reaches zero.
6. Navigating
   a) Through the palette: click a question number on the palette to go directly to that question. Note that this does NOT save the answer to the question currently on screen.
   b) Using "Save & Next": this saves the current answer and moves to the next question. After the last question of a section, the first question of the next section is displayed.
   c) Between sections: the two sections (Paper I and Paper II) are shown on the top bar of the screen. Click a section name to view its questions; the section currently being viewed is highlighted. A summary of each section is shown above the Question Palette.
   d) Within a question: use the mouse to scroll up and down, or click the arrows provided to go to the top or bottom of the question area.

7. Rough work
   a) Blank sheets for rough work will be provided in the examination hall. The candidate must write his or her Name and Roll Number at the top of each sheet.
   b) All rough work must be done only on these sheets. At the end of the test, the candidate must hand over all rough sheets to the invigilator.
   c) Swapping rough sheets with another candidate will be treated as Unfair Means (Chapter 9).
8. Candidates using a scribe
   Where a candidate is allowed a scribe under Para 4.2, the scribe will read the questions and click the answers on the computer as directed by the candidate. The scribe will neither explain the questions nor suggest any answer.

Annexure – X

Computation of Percentile Score for Subjects Conducted in a Single Shift

1. Scope

UGC-NET December 2026 is planned to be conducted in a single shift for each subject. In a single-shift subject, all candidates of that subject answer the same question paper under the same conditions, and their marks are therefore directly comparable. No normalisation of marks is required.

This Annexure applies to every subject conducted in a single shift. If, due to unavoidable circumstances, any subject is conducted in more than one shift, the marks of that subject will be normalised using the Equi-percentile method set out in Annexure XI, and this Annexure will not apply to that subject.

2. Basis of qualification

Qualification for (i) award of JRF and appointment as Assistant Professor, (ii) appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D., and (iii) admission to Ph.D. only, is determined on the aggregate marks obtained in Paper I and Paper II taken together, in accordance with the procedure in Chapter 11.3. The minimum aggregate marks and the subject-wise and category-wise qualifying cut-offs are expressed in marks.

The Percentile Score is reported on the score card to indicate the relative standing of a candidate among all candidates who appeared in the same subject. It is not used to determine whether a candidate qualifies, or to determine any cut-off.

3. Candidates and marks used

a) The Percentile Score is computed separately for each subject.

b) It is computed on the aggregate raw marks of Paper I and Paper II taken together (maximum 300 marks). Percentile Scores are not computed separately for Paper I and Paper II, and the Percentile Score is not an average of any paper-wise or section-wise percentiles.

c) The group used for computation consists of all candidates who appeared in that subject in UGC-NET December 2026, irrespective of category, the qualifying degree on the basis of which they appeared, or the category of qualification for which they are eligible.

d) Candidates who were absent are not included.

4. Formula

The Percentile Score of a candidate is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Percentile Score} = 100 \times (m \div N)$$

where:

- N is the total number of candidates who appeared in the subject; and
- m is the number of candidates who appeared in the subject and obtained aggregate marks EQUAL TO OR LESS THAN the aggregate marks of the candidate.

The Percentile Score is calculated up to 7 decimal places to reduce ties.

5. Properties of the Percentile Score

i. The candidate(s) with the highest aggregate marks in a subject will have a Percentile Score of 100.

ii. Candidates with the same aggregate marks in a subject will have the same Percentile Score.

iii. A Percentile Score is not the same as the percentage of marks obtained. A Percentile Score of 70 means that 70% of the candidates in that subject scored equal to or less than the candidate. It does not mean that the candidate obtained 70% of the marks.

iv. Percentile Scores are relative to the candidates of one subject. Percentile Scores of different subjects are not comparable with each other.

6. Illustration

Suppose that in a subject conducted in a single shift, 21,415 candidates registered and 18,642 appeared (2,773 were absent). The maximum aggregate marks are 300. The Percentile Scores of seven candidates are as follows.

Candidate	Aggregate marks (out of 300)	Percentage of marks	Candidates with equal or lower marks (m)	Percentile Score = 100 × (m ÷ 18,642)
A	268	89.33%	18,642	100.0000000
B	204	68.00%	17,951	96.2933162
C	150	50.00%	13,288	71.2799056
D	150	50.00%	13,288	71.2799056
E	120	40.00%	9,874	52.9664199
F	118	39.33%	9,602	51.5073490
G	16	5.33%	1	0.0053642

Reading the illustration:

- Candidate A has the highest marks in the subject and therefore a Percentile Score of 100.
- Candidates C and D have the same marks and therefore the same Percentile Score.
- Candidate B has a Percentile Score of 96.2933162. This means that 96.2933162% of the candidates in the subject scored 204 marks or less. It does not mean that Candidate B obtained 96% marks; Candidate B obtained 68% marks.
- Candidate G has the lowest marks. The Percentile Score of the lowest scorer depends on the number of candidates who appeared in the subject.
- Qualification is decided on marks, not on the Percentile Score. For a General (Unreserved) or General-EWS candidate, the minimum aggregate under Step III of Chapter 11.3 is 40%, that is, 120 marks out of 300. Candidate E (120 marks) meets this minimum. Candidate F (118 marks) does not, even though the Percentile Scores of E and F differ by less than 1.5. Whether Candidate E finally qualifies depends on the subject-wise and category-wise cut-off in marks determined under Step IV.

7. Subjects conducted in more than one shift

If any subject is conducted in more than one shift, the procedure in Annexure XI will apply to that subject. In that case, the minimum aggregate marks under Step III and the qualifying cut-offs under Step IV of Chapter 11.3 will be applied to the normalised marks, and the result for that subject will be declared in normalised marks along with the Percentile Score, as stated in Para 1.3(a)

Annexure - XI

Normalisation of Marks for Subjects Conducted in More than One Shift (Equi percentile Method)

1. Scope

UGC-NET December 2026 is planned to be conducted in a single shift for each subject. This Annexure applies only if, due to unavoidable circumstances, a subject is conducted in more than one shift. For subjects conducted in a single shift, Annexure X applies and no normalisation is done.

2. Need for normalization

When a subject is conducted in more than one shift, candidates in different shifts answer different question papers. Despite every effort to keep the papers equivalent, their difficulty may not be exactly the same, and marks obtained in different shifts are therefore not directly comparable. Normalisation brings the marks of all shifts of a subject to a common scale, so that no candidate is advantaged or disadvantaged by the shift in which he or she appeared.

The method was recommended by a Committee headed by a Senior Professor of the Indian Statistical Institute, Delhi, and comprising Senior Professors of the Indian Institute of Technology Delhi and the University of Delhi. It is based on "Normalization of marks in multi-session examinations", Abhay G. Bhatt et al., Current Science, Vol. 118, No. 1, 10 January 2020.

3. Principle and allotment of shifts

Under the Equi-percentile method, candidates who are at the same percentile within their own shift are treated as having performed equally. The normalised marks for a given percentile are the average of the marks that correspond to that percentile in each shift of the subject.

This method assumes that the candidates of a subject in each shift are, taken as a group, of comparable ability. Where a subject is conducted in more than one shift, candidates of that subject will therefore be allotted to the shifts randomly, as far as administratively possible, and not on the basis of category, qualifying degree or any other factor related to performance.

4. Candidates and marks used

(i) Normalisation is done separately for each subject.

(ii) It is done on the aggregate raw marks of Paper I and Paper II taken together (maximum 300 marks).

(iii) All candidates who appeared in the subject in each shift are included. Candidates who were absent are not included.

5. Procedure

Step 1: Percentile within each shift. For each shift separately, the percentile of each candidate is calculated as:

$$P = 100 \times (m \div N)$$

where N is the number of candidates who appeared in that shift, and m is the number of candidates in that shift whose aggregate marks are equal to or less than the candidate's aggregate marks. P is calculated up to 7 decimal places.

Step 2: Equivalent marks in every shift. All the distinct percentile values from all shifts of the subject are listed together. For each percentile value P, the equivalent marks in each shift are found as follows:

(a) If one or more candidates in that shift have the percentile P, the equivalent marks are their aggregate marks.

(b) Otherwise, the equivalent marks X are found by linear interpolation:

$$X = x1 + (P - p1) \times (x2 - x1) \div (p2 - p1)$$

where p1 is the highest percentile in that shift that is lower than P, and x1 the marks at p1; and p2 is the lowest percentile in that shift that is higher than P, and x2 the marks at p2.

(c) If P is lower than the lowest percentile in that shift, the equivalent marks are the lowest aggregate marks in that shift. (The highest percentile in every shift is 100, so P is never higher than the highest percentile of a shift.)

Step 3: Normalised marks. The normalised marks Z for the percentile P are the average of the equivalent marks in all the shifts:

$$Z = (u1 + u2 + \ldots + ut) \div t$$

where t is the number of shifts in which the subject was conducted, and u1, u2, ... ut are the equivalent marks for the percentile P in shifts 1, 2, ... t. Every candidate whose percentile in his or her own shift is P receives the normalised marks Z. Z is calculated up to 7 decimal places.

Step 4: Use of normalised marks in the result. For a subject conducted in more than one shift, the normalised marks are used in place of the aggregate raw marks for all purposes of the result under Chapter 11.3. In particular, the minimum aggregate under Step III (40%, that is 120 marks out of 300, for General (Unreserved) and General-EWS candidates; 35%, that is 105 marks, for candidates of reserved categories) and the qualifying cut-offs under Step IV are applied to the normalised marks. The normalised marks are also the NET marks to be used for admission to Ph.D. under Para 1.3(a).

Step 5: Percentile Score reported on the score card. The Percentile Score reported for each candidate is calculated over all candidates who appeared in the subject, in all shifts taken together, on the normalised marks:

Percentile Score = 100 × (number of candidates in the subject with normalised marks equal to or less than the candidate ÷ total candidates who appeared in the subject)

This places candidates of single-shift and multi-shift subjects on the same footing: in both cases the Percentile Score shows the candidate's standing among all candidates of the subject. As under Annexure X, the Percentile Score is not used to determine qualification or cut-offs.

6. Properties of normalised marks

i. Normalisation does not change the order of candidates within the same shift. A candidate with higher aggregate marks than another candidate in the same shift will always have normalised marks equal to or higher than that candidate.

ii. Candidates in the same shift with equal aggregate marks receive equal normalised marks.

iii. Normalised marks may be fractional. They are not rounded to whole marks.

iv. A candidate in a shift with a more difficult paper will generally receive normalised marks higher than his or her raw marks, and a candidate in a shift with an easier paper will generally receive normalised marks lower than his or her raw marks.

7. Illustration

Suppose a subject is conducted in two shifts. To keep the arithmetic easy to follow, the illustration uses 10 candidates in Shift 1 (1A to 1J) and 8 candidates in Shift 2 (2A to 2H); in practice each shift will have many more candidates, but the method is the same. Marks are aggregate marks out of 300.

Step 1: Percentile within each shift

Shift	Candidate	Aggregate marks	m of N	Percentile (P)
Shift 1	1A	252	10 of 10	100.0000000
Shift 1	1B	210	9 of 10	90.0000000
Shift 1	1C	186	8 of 10	80.0000000
Shift 1	1D	164	7 of 10	70.0000000
Shift 1	1E	150	6 of 10	60.0000000
Shift 1	1F	150	6 of 10	60.0000000
Shift 1	1G	128	4 of 10	40.0000000
Shift 1	1H	112	3 of 10	30.0000000
Shift 1	1I	96	2 of 10	20.0000000
Shift 1	1J	60	1 of 10	10.0000000
Shift 2	2A	276	8 of 8	100.0000000
Shift 2	2B	240	7 of 8	87.5000000
Shift 2	2C	214	6 of 8	75.0000000
Shift 2	2D	190	5 of 8	62.5000000
Shift 2	2E	172	4 of 8	50.0000000
Shift 2	2F	146	3 of 8	37.5000000
Shift 2	2G	130	2 of 8	25.0000000
Shift 2	2H	88	1 of 8	12.5000000

The highest scorer in each shift (1A in Shift 1 and 2A in Shift 2) has a percentile of 100. Candidates 1E and 1F have equal marks and therefore equal percentiles. The top score in Shift 2 (276) is higher than in Shift 1 (252), and the marks at every percentile are higher in Shift 2, which suggests that the Shift 2 paper was easier.

Steps 2 and 3: Equivalent marks and normalised marks

Percentile (P)	Candidate(s)	Equivalent marks, Shift 1	Equivalent marks, Shift 2	Normalised marks Z = (Shift 1 + Shift 2) ÷ 2
100.0000000	1A / 2A	252.00	276.00	264.00
90.0000000	1B	210.00	247.20*	228.60
87.5000000	2B	204.00*	240.00	222.00
80.0000000	1C	186.00	224.40*	205.20
75.0000000	2C	175.00*	214.00	194.50

Percentile (P)	Candidate(s)	Equivalent marks, Shift 1	Equivalent marks, Shift 2	Normalised marks Z = (Shift 1 + Shift 2) ÷ 2
70.0000000	1D	164.00	204.40*	184.20

*Marks without a symbol are actual marks of a candidate at that percentile (Step 2(a)). * Interpolated under Step 2(b). # Lowest marks of the shift under Step 2(c). Values are shown to 2 decimal places for readability.*

Two of these values worked out in full:

- Candidate 1B (Shift 1, 210 marks, P = 90). Shift 2 has no candidate at the 90th percentile. The nearest percentiles in Shift 2 are 87.5 (2B, 240 marks) below and 100 (2A, 276 marks) above. Equivalent marks in Shift 2 = 240 + (90 − 87.5) × (276 − 240) ÷ (100 − 87.5) = 240 + 2.5 × 36 ÷ 12.5 = 247.20. Normalised marks = (210 + 247.20) ÷ 2 = 228.60.
- Candidate 1J (Shift 1, 60 marks, P = 10). The lowest percentile in Shift 2 is 12.5, which is higher than 10. Under Step 2(c), the equivalent marks in Shift 2 are the lowest marks in Shift 2, that is 88. Normalised marks = (60 + 88) ÷ 2 = 74.00.

Steps 4 and 5: Use in the result

Candidate	Shift	Raw aggregate marks	Normalised marks	Percentile Score in subject (18 candidates)	Meets 120 marks (40%)?
1A	1	252	264.00	100.0000000	Yes
2A	2	276	264.00	100.0000000	Yes
1B	1	210	228.60	88.8888889	Yes
2B	2	240	222.00	83.3333333	Yes
1C	1	186	205.20	77.7777778	Yes
2C	2	214	194.50	72.2222222	Yes
1D	1	164	184.20	66.6666667	Yes
2D	2	190	171.75	61.1111111	Yes
1E	1	150	168.20	55.5555556	Yes
1F	1	150	168.20	55.5555556	Yes

Candidate	Shift	Raw aggregate marks	Normalised marks	Percentile Score in subject (18 candidates)	Meets 120 marks (40%)?
2E	2	172	155.50	44.4444444	Yes
1G	1	128	139.60	38.8888889	Yes
2F	2	146	135.00	33.3333333	Yes
1H	1	112	124.20	27.7777778	Yes
2G	2	130	117.00	22.2222222	No
1I	1	96	104.60	16.6666667	No
2H	2	88	78.50	11.1111111	No
1J	1	60	74.00	5.5555556	No

Reading the illustration:

- Candidate 1H (Shift 1) has 112 raw marks, which is below 120. After normalisation 1H has 124.20 marks and meets the 40% minimum, because 1H answered the harder paper.
- Candidate 2G (Shift 2) has 130 raw marks, which is above 120. After normalisation 2G has 117.00 marks and does not meet the 40% minimum, because 2G answered the easier paper.
- Within each shift the order of candidates is unchanged. In Shift 1, for example, the order 1A, 1B, 1C, 1D, 1E and 1F, 1G, 1H, 1I, 1J is the same before and after normalization.
- Candidates 1A and 2A, the toppers of the two shifts, both receive 264.00 normalized marks and a Percentile Score of 100.

Meeting the 40% minimum is the first condition only. Whether a candidate finally qualifies depends on the subject-wise and category-wise cut-off in normalised marks determined under Step IV of Chapter 11.3

- Meri Pehchaan-National Single Sign-On (NSSO) Platform

  The Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), Government of India, has developed a National Single Sign-On (NSSO) platform titled "Meri Pehchaan" in collaboration with the National Informatics Centre (NIC), Centre for Development of Advanced Computing (C-DAC), and National e-Governance Division (NeGD). The platform was launched on 4th July 2022 to facilitate seamless access to multiple Government services through a single set of login credentials.

  Meri Pehchaan enables users to authenticate themselves once and securely access various integrated applications without the need for repeated sign-ins. The platform integrates multiple identity providers such as Jan Parichay, Digi Locker, and e-Pramaan, thereby ensuring interoperability and a unified user experience.

  Users can register on the platform using basic details such as name, date of birth, and mobile number, and may complete verification through eKYC using Aadhaar, PAN, Driving Licence or APAAR. The platform supports advanced features such as multi-factor authentication, password-less login, and the ability to manage multiple accounts linked to a single mobile number.

  The NSSO framework significantly reduces the burden of maintaining multiple credentials, enhances data security, and provides a standardized authentication mechanism for Government services. It also benefits service providers by reducing the cost and complexity of developing independent authentication systems.

  Meri Pehchaan thus serves as a secure, scalable, and citizen-centric digital identity solution, contributing to the vision of Digital India by improving ease of access to Government-to-Citizen (G2C) services.

Application form registration has been enabled through the Single Sign-On (SSO) service-Meri Pehchan of Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology, for the convenience of the applicants.

Chapter – 1

[INTRODUCTION]

1.1 About National Testing Agency (NTA)

The Ministry of Education (MoE), Government of India (GOI) has established the National Testing Agency (NTA) as an independent, autonomous, and self-sustained premier testing organization under the Societies Registration Act (1860) for conducting efficient, transparent and international standards tests in order to assess the competency of candidates for admissions to premier higher education institutions.

The NTA has been entrusted by the University Grants Commission (UGC) with the task of conducting UGC-NET which is a test to determine the eligibility of Indian nationals for 'award of Junior Research Fellowship and appointment as Assistant Professor', 'appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D.' and 'admission to Ph.D. only' in Indian universities and colleges.

1.2 About University Grants Commission (UGC)

The University Grants Commission (UGC) is a Statutory Body of Government of India, Ministry of Education, Department of Higher Education, constituted under the University Grants Commission Act, 1956 (3 of 1956), vested with two responsibilities: that of providing funds and that of coordination, determination and maintenance of standards in institutions of higher education. The UGC`s mandate includes:

- Promoting and coordinating university education.
- Determining and maintaining standards of teaching, examination and research in universities.
- Framing regulations on minimum standards of education.
- Monitoring developments in the field of collegiate and university education; disbursing grants to the universities and colleges.
- Serving as a vital link between the Union and State governments and institutions of higher learning.
- Advising the Central and State governments on the measures necessary for improvement of university education.

1.3 University Grants Commission – National Eligibility Test (UGC-NET)

(a) UGC-NET is a test to determine the eligibility of Indian nationals for 'award of Junior Research Fellowship and appointment as Assistant Professor', 'appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D.' and 'admission to Ph.D. only' in Indian universities and colleges.

- The candidates qualifying under the 'appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D.' category will be eligible for appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D. but not for the award of JRF.
- The candidates qualifying under the 'admission to Ph.D. only' category will be eligible for admission to Ph.D. only but not for the award of JRF and/or appointment as Assistant Professor.
- The eligibility will be determined in the following manner:

Qualified for	Eligible for
	JRF	Assistant Professor	Ph.D. admission
Category-1: Award of JRF and appointment as Assistant Professor	Yes	Yes	Yes
Category-2: Appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D.	No	Yes	Yes
Category-3: Admission to Ph.D. only	No	No	Yes

- The JRF-qualified candidates are admitted into the Ph.D. programme based on an interview as per the UGC (Minimum Standards and Procedures for Award of Ph.D. Degree) Regulations, 2022.

- UGC-NET under category-2 & category-3 can be used as an entrance test for Ph.D. admission in place of entrance tests conducted by the different universities/HEIs for admission to Ph.D.
- For candidates qualified under the category-2 and category-3, the marks obtained in the NET will have 70% weightage and 30% weightage will be based on the performance in the interview/viva voce conducted by the University/HEI concerned. The Ph.D. admission will be based on the combined merit of NET marks and the marks obtained in the interview/viva voce.
- For admission to Ph.D., the marks obtained in the NET by the candidates in category-2 and category-3 will be valid for a period of one year from the date of declaration of the result of UGC-NET.
- The number of candidates who will be qualified for 'admission to the Ph.D. only' will be decided by the results committee.
- The result of NET will be declared in marks, along with the Percentile Score, so that the marks can be used for admission to Ph.D. Each subject is planned to be conducted in a single shift, and the Percentile Score will be computed as per Annexure X on the aggregate marks of Paper I and Paper II. In case the test for a subject is conducted in two or more shifts, the marks of that subject will be normalised using the Equi-percentile method as per Annexure XI, and the result for that subject will be declared in normalised marks along with the Percentile Score.

(b) The selection of candidates for the following Fellowships will be made through the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment:
- National Fellowship for Scheduled Caste Students (NFSC)
- National Fellowship for Other Backward Classes (NFOBC)
- National Fellowship for Persons with Disabilities (NFPwD)

(c) The data of UGC-NET candidates can be shared by the UGC/NTA with Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs) for admission to Ph.D. programmes and with Public Sector Undertakings (PSUs) & other organizations for their recruitment processes.

Chapter – 2
[Eligibility and Qualification]

2. Eligibility Criteria for UGC-NET December 2026

2.1 Qualifying Examination:

(a) General/Unreserved/General-EWS candidates who have secured at least 55% marks (without rounding off) in Master's Degree or equivalent examination from universities/institutions recognized by UGC (available on the website: www.ugc.ac.in in Humanities and Social Science (including languages), Computer Science and Applications, Electronic Science etc. are eligible for this Test. List of subjects at Post Graduation level is attached as Annexure – IV. The Other Backward Classes (OBC) belonging to Non-Creamy Layer/Scheduled Caste (SC)/Scheduled Tribe (ST)/Persons with Disability (PwD) / Persons with Benchmark Disability (PwBD)/Third gender category candidates who have secured at least 50% marks (without rounding off) in Master's degree or equivalent examination are eligible for this Test.

(b) Candidates who are pursuing their Master's degree or equivalent course or candidates who have appeared for their qualifying Master's degree (final year) examination and whose result is still awaited or candidates whose qualifying examinations have been delayed may also apply for this test. However, such candidates will be admitted provisionally and shall be considered eligible for award of JRF/eligibility for Assistant Professor only after they have passed their Master's Degree or equivalent examination with at least 55% marks (50% marks in case of OBC-NCL/ SC / ST / PwD/PwBD / Third gender category candidates). Such candidates must complete their Master's degree or equivalent examination within two years from the date of NET result with required percentage of marks, failing which they shall be treated as disqualified.

However, those candidates who qualify for 'Admission to Ph.D. Only' must complete their Master's degree or equivalent examination within one year from the date of NET result with required percentage of marks, failing which they shall be treated as disqualified.

(c) Candidates belonging to the Third gender category are eligible to draw the same relaxation in fee, age and Eligibility Criteria for NET (i.e. JRF and Assistant Professor) as are available to SC/ST/PwD/PwBD categories. The subject-wise qualifying cut-offs for this category would be the lowest among those for SC / ST / PwD/PwBD / OBC–NCL / General-EWS categories in the corresponding subject.

(d) The Ph.D. degree holders whose Master's level examination have been completed by 19 September 1991 (irrespective of date of declaration of result) shall be eligible for a relaxation of 5% in aggregate marks (i.e. from 55% to 50%) for appearing in NET. The list of Post-Graduation courses and their codes is given at Annexure – V.

Procedure for Appearing in Computer Based Test (CBT)

1. Seating and login

(a) A computer terminal (node) will be allotted to each candidate at the registration desk in the examination hall, as stated in Para 8.4. Candidates must sit only at the terminal allotted to them. A candidate found to have changed the room, hall or terminal without the permission of the invigilator is liable to cancellation of candidature, and no plea in this regard will be entertained.

(b) The terminal will display a login screen showing the candidate's photograph and the subject opted by the candidate. The candidate must check that the photograph, name and subject are correct, and must inform the invigilator immediately if they are not (Para 8.5). The candidate will log in using the login ID and password as instructed in the examination hall.

(c) After logging in, the candidate will see the detailed instructions for the test and should read them carefully. The questions will be displayed at the designated start time of the examination.

2. The test on screen

(a) Paper I (50 questions) and Paper II (100 questions) are displayed as two sections of a single test of 180 minutes. There is no separate time limit for each paper and no break between them. The candidate may move between the two sections, and between questions, at any time during the test.

(b) All questions are multiple-choice questions. For each question, the candidate is to select one option as the answer (Para 3.5).

(c) Answers are given only by clicking with the computer mouse. The keyboard, if any, will be disabled for the entire duration of the test. There are no questions requiring an answer to be typed or a number to be entered.

3. Timer and technical problems

(a) The clock is set at the server. The countdown timer at the top right of the screen shows the time remaining. When the timer reaches zero, the test will end automatically; the candidate is not required to submit the test. For a candidate allowed compensatory time under Para 4.2.4, the timer will include the additional time.

(b) If the computer or mouse allotted to a candidate malfunctions at any time during the test, the candidate will be moved immediately to another terminal, and the time lost will be adjusted at the server so that the candidate gets the full time allowed. The responses already saved will be retained.

4. Question palette and status of questions

The Question Palette on the right of the screen shows the status of each question. The symbols and colours used for each status are shown in the instructions displayed after login.

Status shown on the palette	What it means	Will it be evaluated?
Not Visited	The candidate has not yet opened the question.	No
Not Answered	The candidate has opened the question but has not saved an answer.	No
Answered	The candidate has selected an option and saved it.	Yes
Marked for Review	The candidate has marked the question for review without saving an answer.	No
Answered and Marked for Review	The candidate has saved an answer and also marked the question to look at again.	Yes

Only questions with a saved answer, that is, questions with the status "Answered" or "Answered and Marked for Review", will be evaluated.

The candidate can collapse the Question Palette by clicking the arrow to its left, to enlarge the question area, and open it again by clicking the arrow on the right of the question area.

5. Answering a question
   (a) To select an answer: click the option chosen.
   (b) To save the answer: click "Save & Next". The answer is saved and the next question is displayed. An answer that has been selected but not saved will not be recorded.
   (c) To change a saved answer: go back to the question, click a different option and click "Save & Next" again. To remove an answer altogether, click "Clear Response".
   (d) To mark a question for review: click "Mark for Review & Next". If an option has been selected when this button is clicked, the answer is saved and the question is shown as "Answered and Marked for Review"; it will be evaluated. If no option has been selected, the question is shown as "Marked for Review"; it will not be evaluated unless an answer is later saved.
   (e) Answers may be changed at any time until the timer reaches zero.

6. Navigating
   (a) Through the palette: click a question number on the palette to go directly to that question. Note that this does NOT save the answer to the question currently on screen.
   (b) Using "Save & Next": this saves the current answer and moves to the next question. After the last question of a section, the first question of the next section is displayed.
   (c) Between sections: the two sections (Paper I and Paper II) are shown on the top bar of the screen. Click a section name to view its questions; the section currently being viewed is highlighted. A summary of each section is shown above the Question Palette.
   (d) Within a question: use the mouse to scroll up and down, or click the arrows provided to go to the top or bottom of the question area.

7. Rough work
   (a) Blank sheets for rough work will be provided in the examination hall. The candidate must write his or her Name and Roll Number at the top of each sheet.
   (b) All rough work must be done only on these sheets. At the end of the test, the candidate must hand over all rough sheets to the invigilator.
   (c) Swapping rough sheets with another candidate will be treated as Unfair Means (Chapter 9).

8. Candidates using a scribe
   Where a candidate is allowed a scribe under Para 4.2, the scribe will read the questions and click the answers on the computer as directed by the candidate. The scribe will neither explain the questions nor suggest any answer.

Annexure – X

Computation of Percentile Score for Subjects Conducted in a Single Shift

1. Scope

UGC-NET December 2026 is planned to be conducted in a single shift for each subject. In a single-shift subject, all candidates of that subject answer the same question paper under the same conditions, and their marks are therefore directly comparable. No normalisation of marks is required.

This Annexure applies to every subject conducted in a single shift. If, due to unavoidable circumstances, any subject is conducted in more than one shift, the marks of that subject will be normalised using the Equi-percentile method set out in Annexure XI, and this Annexure will not apply to that subject.

2. Basis of qualification

Qualification for (i) award of JRF and appointment as Assistant Professor, (ii) appointment as Assistant Professor and admission to Ph.D., and (iii) admission to Ph.D. only, is determined on the aggregate marks obtained in Paper I and Paper II taken together, in accordance with the procedure in Chapter 11.3. The minimum aggregate marks and the subject-wise and category-wise qualifying cut-offs are expressed in marks.

The Percentile Score is reported on the score card to indicate the relative standing of a candidate among all candidates who appeared in the same subject. It is not used to determine whether a candidate qualifies, or to determine any cut-off.

3. Candidates and marks used

(i) The Percentile Score is computed separately for each subject.

(ii) It is computed on the aggregate raw marks of Paper I and Paper II taken together (maximum 300 marks). Percentile Scores are not computed separately for Paper I and Paper II, and the Percentile Score is not an average of any paper-wise or section-wise percentiles.

(iii) The group used for computation consists of all candidates who appeared in that subject in UGC-NET December 2026, irrespective of category, the qualifying degree on the basis of which they appeared, or the category of qualification for which they are eligible.

(iv) Candidates who were absent are not included.

4. Formula

The Percentile Score of a candidate is calculated as follows:

$$\textbf{Percentile Score} = 100 \times (m \div N)$$

where:

- N is the total number of candidates who appeared in the subject; and
- m is the number of candidates who appeared in the subject and obtained aggregate marks EQUAL TO OR LESS THAN the aggregate marks of the candidate.

The Percentile Score is calculated up to 7 decimal places to reduce ties.

5. Properties of the Percentile Score

(i) The candidate(s) with the highest aggregate marks in a subject will have a Percentile Score of 100.

(ii) Candidates with the same aggregate marks in a subject will have the same Percentile Score.

(iii) A Percentile Score is not the same as the percentage of marks obtained. A Percentile Score of 70 means that 70% of the candidates in that subject scored equal to or less than the candidate. It does not mean that the candidate obtained 70% of the marks.

(iv) Percentile Scores are relative to the candidates of one subject. Percentile Scores of different subjects are not comparable with each other.

6. Illustration

Suppose that in a subject conducted in a single shift, 21,415 candidates registered and 18,642 appeared (2,773 were absent). The maximum aggregate marks are 300. The Percentile Scores of seven candidates are as follows.

Candidate	Aggregate marks (out of 300)	Percentage of marks	Candidates with equal or lower marks (m)	Percentile Score = 100 × (m ÷ 18,642)
A	268	89.33%	18,642	100.0000000
B	204	68.00%	17,951	96.2933162
C	150	50.00%	13,288	71.2799056
D	150	50.00%	13,288	71.2799056
E	120	40.00%	9,874	52.9664199
F	118	39.33%	9,602	51.5073490
G	16	5.33%	1	0.0053642

Reading the illustration:

- Candidate A has the highest marks in the subject and therefore a Percentile Score of 100.
- Candidates C and D have the same marks and therefore the same Percentile Score.
- Candidate B has a Percentile Score of 96.2933162. This means that 96.2933162% of the candidates in the subject scored 204 marks or less. It does not mean that Candidate B obtained 96% marks; Candidate B obtained 68% marks.
- Candidate G has the lowest marks. The Percentile Score of the lowest scorer depends on the number of candidates who appeared in the subject.
- Qualification is decided on marks, not on the Percentile Score. For a General (Unreserved) or General-EWS candidate, the minimum aggregate under Step III of Chapter 11.3 is 40%, that is, 120 marks out of 300. Candidate E (120 marks) meets this minimum. Candidate F (118 marks) does not, even though the Percentile Scores of E and F differ by less than 1.5. Whether Candidate E finally qualifies depends on the subject-wise and category-wise cut-off in marks determined under Step IV.

7. Subjects conducted in more than one shift

If any subject is conducted in more than one shift, the procedure in Annexure XI will apply to that subject. In that case, the minimum aggregate marks under Step III and the qualifying cut-offs under Step IV of Chapter 11.3 will be applied to the normalised marks, and the result for that subject will be declared in normalised marks along with the Percentile Score, as stated in Para 1.3(a).

Annexure – XI

Normalisation of Marks for Subjects Conducted in More than One Shift
(Equi percentile Method)

1. Scope

UGC-NET December 2026 is planned to be conducted in a single shift for each subject. This Annexure applies only if, due to unavoidable circumstances, a subject is conducted in more than one shift. For subjects conducted in a single shift, Annexure X applies and no normalisation is done.

2. Need for normalisation

When a subject is conducted in more than one shift, candidates in different shifts answer different question papers. Despite every effort to keep the papers equivalent, their difficulty may not be exactly the same, and marks obtained in different shifts are therefore not directly comparable. Normalisation brings the marks of all shifts of a subject to a common scale, so that no candidate is advantaged or disadvantaged by the shift in which he or she appeared.

The method was recommended by a Committee headed by a Senior Professor of the Indian Statistical Institute, Delhi, and comprising Senior Professors of the Indian Institute of Technology Delhi and the University of Delhi. It is based on "Normalization of marks in multi-session examinations", Abhay G. Bhatt et al., Current Science, Vol. 118, No. 1, 10 January 2020.

3. Principle and allotment of shifts

Under the Equi-percentile method, candidates who are at the same percentile within their own shift are treated as having performed equally. The normalised marks for a given percentile are the average of the marks that correspond to that percentile in each shift of the subject.

This method assumes that the candidates of a subject in each shift are, taken as a group, of comparable ability. Where a subject is conducted in more than one shift, candidates of that subject will therefore be allotted to the shifts randomly, as far as administratively possible, and not on the basis of category, qualifying degree or any other factor related to performance.

4. Candidates and marks used

i) Normalisation is done separately for each subject.

ii) It is done on the aggregate raw marks of Paper I and Paper II taken together (maximum 300 marks).

iii) All candidates who appeared in the subject in each shift are included. Candidates who were absent are not included.

5. Procedure

Step 1: Percentile within each shift. For each shift separately, the percentile of each candidate is calculated as:

$$P = 100 \times (m \div N)$$

where N is the number of candidates who appeared in that shift, and m is the number of candidates in that shift whose aggregate marks are equal to or less than the candidate's aggregate marks. P is calculated up to 7 decimal places.

Step 2: Equivalent marks in every shift. All the distinct percentile values from all shifts of the subject are listed together. For each percentile value P, the equivalent marks in each shift are found as follows:

(a) If one or more candidates in that shift have the percentile P, the equivalent marks are their aggregate marks.

(b) Otherwise, the equivalent marks X are found by linear interpolation:

$$X = x1 + (P - p1) \times (x2 - x1) \div (p2 - p1)$$

where p1 is the highest percentile in that shift that is lower than P, and x1 the marks at p1; and p2 is the lowest percentile in that shift that is higher than P, and x2 the marks at p2.

(c) If P is lower than the lowest percentile in that shift, the equivalent marks are the lowest aggregate marks in that shift. (The highest percentile in every shift is 100, so P is never higher than the highest percentile of a shift.)

Step 3: Normalised marks. The normalised marks Z for the percentile P are the average of the equivalent marks in all the shifts:

$$Z = (u1 + u2 + ... + ut) \div t$$

where t is the number of shifts in which the subject was conducted, and u1, u2, ... ut are the equivalent marks for the percentile P in shifts 1, 2, ... t. Every candidate whose percentile in his or her own shift is P receives the normalised marks Z. Z is calculated up to 7 decimal places.

Step 4: Use of normalised marks in the result. For a subject conducted in more than one shift, the normalised marks are used in place of the aggregate raw marks for all purposes of the result under Chapter 11.3. In particular, the minimum aggregate under Step III (40%, that is 120 marks out of 300, for General (Unreserved) and General-EWS candidates; 35%, that is 105 marks, for candidates of reserved categories) and the qualifying cut-offs under Step IV are applied to the normalised marks. The normalised marks are also the NET marks to be used for admission to Ph.D. under Para 1.3(a).

Step 5: Percentile Score reported on the score card. The Percentile Score reported for each candidate is calculated over all candidates who appeared in the subject, in all shifts taken together, on the normalised marks:

Percentile Score = 100 × (number of candidates in the subject with normalised marks equal to or less than the candidate ÷ total candidates who appeared in the subject)

This places candidates of single-shift and multi-shift subjects on the same footing: in both cases the Percentile Score shows the candidate's standing among all candidates of the subject. As under Annexure X, the Percentile Score is not used to determine qualification or cut-offs.

6. Properties of normalised marks

i) Normalisation does not change the order of candidates within the same shift. A candidate with higher aggregate marks than another candidate in the same shift will always have normalised marks equal to or higher than that candidate.

ii) Candidates in the same shift with equal aggregate marks receive equal normalised marks.

iii) Normalised marks may be fractional. They are not rounded to whole marks.

iv) A candidate in a shift with a more difficult paper will generally receive normalised marks higher than his or her raw marks, and a candidate in a shift with an easier paper will generally receive normalised marks lower than his or her raw marks.

7. Illustration

Suppose a subject is conducted in two shifts. To keep the arithmetic easy to follow, the illustration uses 10 candidates in Shift 1 (1A to 1J) and 8 candidates in Shift 2 (2A to 2H); in practice each shift will have many more candidates, but the method is the same. Marks are aggregate marks out of 300.

Step 1: Percentile within each shift

Shift	Candidate	Aggregate marks	m of N	Percentile (P)
Shift 1	1A	252	10 of 10	100.0000000
Shift 1	1B	210	9 of 10	90.0000000
Shift 1	1C	186	8 of 10	80.0000000
Shift 1	1D	164	7 of 10	70.0000000
Shift 1	1E	150	6 of 10	60.0000000

Shift	Candidate	Aggregate marks	m of N	Percentile (P)
Shift 1	1F	150	6 of 10	60.0000000
Shift 1	1G	128	4 of 10	40.0000000
Shift 1	1H	112	3 of 10	30.0000000
Shift 1	1I	96	2 of 10	20.0000000
Shift 1	1J	60	1 of 10	10.0000000
Shift 2	2A	276	8 of 8	100.0000000
Shift 2	2B	240	7 of 8	87.5000000
Shift 2	2C	214	6 of 8	75.0000000
Shift 2	2D	190	5 of 8	62.5000000
Shift 2	2E	172	4 of 8	50.0000000
Shift 2	2F	146	3 of 8	37.5000000
Shift 2	2G	130	2 of 8	25.0000000
Shift 2	2H	88	1 of 8	12.5000000

The highest scorer in each shift (1A in Shift 1 and 2A in Shift 2) has a percentile of 100. Candidates 1E and 1F have equal marks and therefore equal percentiles. The top score in Shift 2 (276) is higher than in Shift 1 (252), and the marks at every percentile are higher in Shift 2, which suggests that the Shift 2 paper was easier.

Steps 2 and 3: Equivalent marks and normalised marks

Percentile (P)	Candidate(s)	Equivalent marks, Shift 1	Equivalent marks, Shift 2	Normalised marks Z = (Shift 1 + Shift 2) ÷ 2
100.0000000	1A / 2A	252.00	276.00	264.00
90.0000000	1B	210.00	247.20*	228.60
87.5000000	2B	204.00*	240.00	222.00
80.0000000	1C	186.00	224.40*	205.20
75.0000000	2C	175.00*	214.00	194.50
70.0000000	1D	164.00	204.40*	184.20
62.5000000	2D	153.50*	190.00	171.75
60.0000000	1E / 1F	150.00	186.40*	168.20
50.0000000	2E	139.00*	172.00	155.50
40.0000000	1G	128.00	151.20*	139.60
37.5000000	2F	124.00*	146.00	135.00
30.0000000	1H	112.00	136.40*	124.20
25.0000000	2G	104.00*	130.00	117.00
20.0000000	1I	96.00	113.20*	104.60
12.5000000	2H	69.00*	88.00	78.50
10.0000000	1J	60.00	88.00#	74.00

*Marks without a symbol are actual marks of a candidate at that percentile (Step 2(a)). * Interpolated under Step 2(b). # Lowest marks of the shift under Step 2(c). Values are shown to 2 decimal places for readability.*

Two of these values worked out in full:

- Candidate 1B (Shift 1, 210 marks, P = 90). Shift 2 has no candidate at the 90th percentile. The nearest percentiles in Shift 2 are 87.5 (2B, 240 marks) below and 100 (2A, 276 marks) above. Equivalent marks in Shift 2 = 240 + (90 − 87.5) × (276 − 240) ÷ (100 − 87.5) = 240 + 2.5 × 36 ÷ 12.5 = 247.20. Normalised marks = (210 + 247.20) ÷ 2 = 228.60.
- Candidate 1J (Shift 1, 60 marks, P = 10). The lowest percentile in Shift 2 is 12.5, which is higher than 10. Under Step 2(c), the equivalent marks in Shift 2 are the lowest marks in Shift 2, that is 88. Normalised marks = (60 + 88) ÷ 2 = 74.00.

Steps 4 and 5: Use in the result

Candidate	Shift	Raw aggregate marks	Normalised marks	Percentile Score in subject (18 candidates)	Meets 120 marks (40%)?
1A	1	252	264.00	100.0000000	Yes
2A	2	276	264.00	100.0000000	Yes
1B	1	210	228.60	88.8888889	Yes
2B	2	240	222.00	83.3333333	Yes
1C	1	186	205.20	77.7777778	Yes
2C	2	214	194.50	72.2222222	Yes
1D	1	164	184.20	66.6666667	Yes
2D	2	190	171.75	61.1111111	Yes
1E	1	150	168.20	55.5555556	Yes
1F	1	150	168.20	55.5555556	Yes
2E	2	172	155.50	44.4444444	Yes
1G	1	128	139.60	38.8888889	Yes
2F	2	146	135.00	33.3333333	Yes
1H	1	112	124.20	27.7777778	Yes
2G	2	130	117.00	22.2222222	No
1I	1	96	104.60	16.6666667	No
2H	2	88	78.50	11.1111111	No
1J	1	60	74.00	5.5555556	No

Reading the illustration:

- Candidate 1H (Shift 1) has 112 raw marks, which is below 120. After normalisation 1H has 124.20 marks and meets the 40% minimum, because 1H answered the harder paper.
- Candidate 2G (Shift 2) has 130 raw marks, which is above 120. After normalisation 2G has 117.00 marks and does not meet the 40% minimum, because 2G answered the easier paper.
- Within each shift the order of candidates is unchanged. In Shift 1, for example, the order 1A, 1B, 1C, 1D, 1E and 1F, 1G, 1H, 1I, 1J is the same before and after normalisation.
- Candidates 1A and 2A, the toppers of the two shifts, both receive 264.00 normalised marks and a Percentile Score of 100.

- Meeting the 40% minimum is the first condition only. Whether a candidate finally qualifies depends on the subject-wise and category-wise cut-off in normalised marks determined under Step IV of Chapter 11.3.
